 - + Private Sector and SDGs
 - + CDC and SDGs
- Case studies from our work

What?

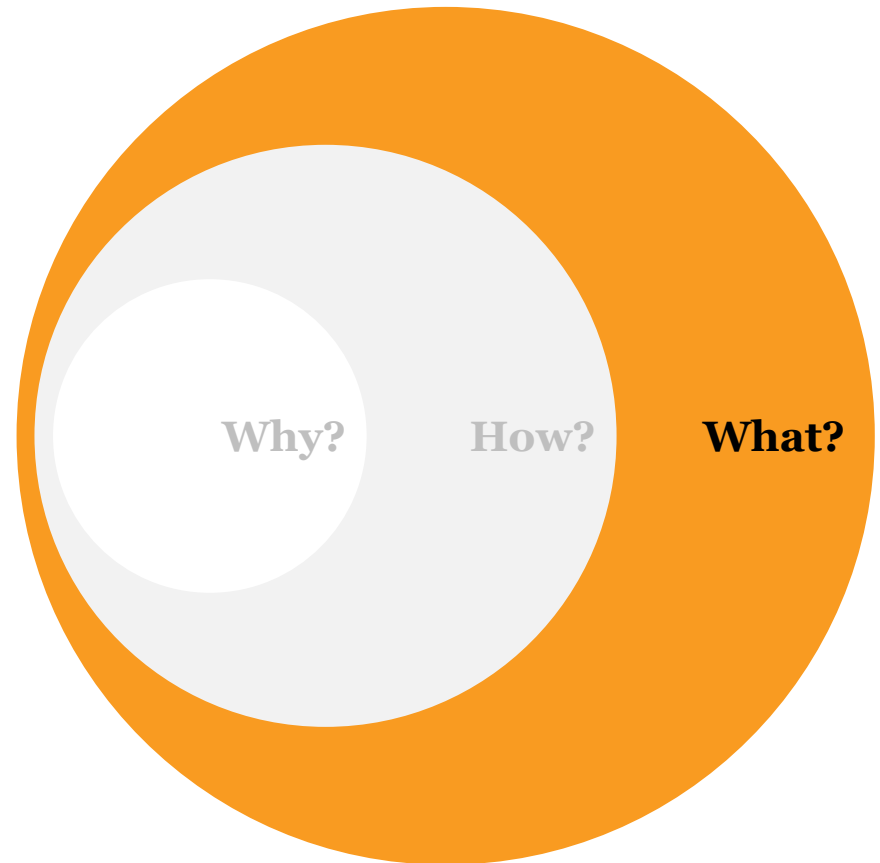

- + We're the world's oldest development finance institution and one of the biggest impact investors in Africa and South Asia.

How?

- + We use our commercial skills to find talented people with the vision to grow their business.
- + We then invest our expertise, time and money, to help them build value and reach their goals.

Why?

- + We believe investment works by growing great businesses that will create opportunity and jobs across Africa and South Asia.

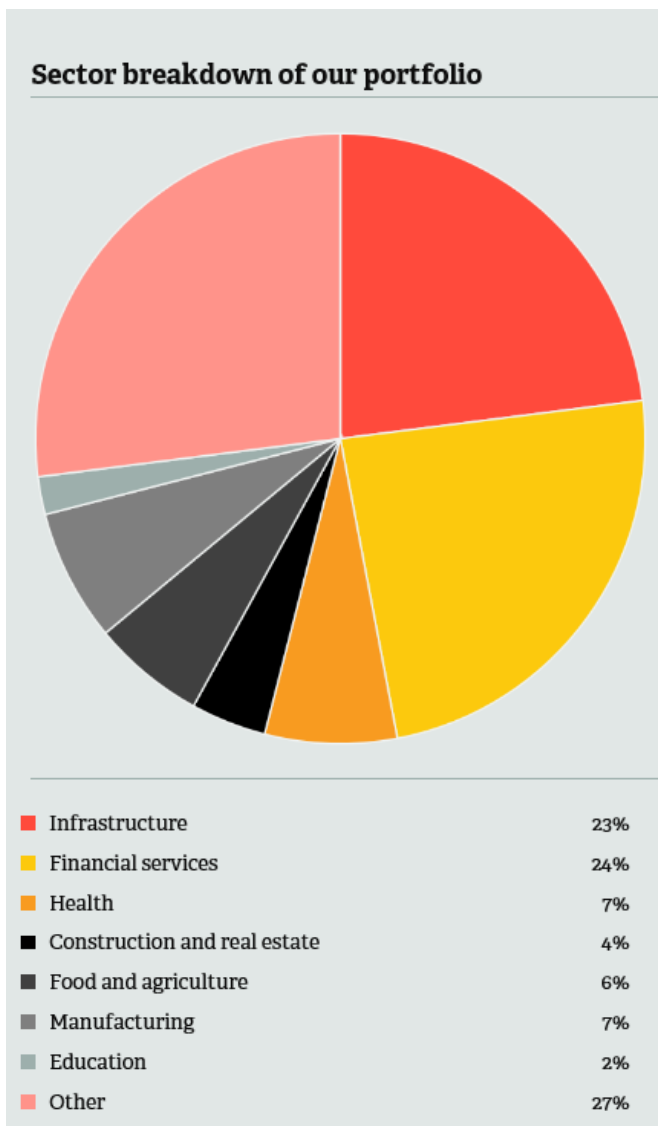

Where we invest

We invest only in Africa and South Asia.

We've been investing in these markets for nearly 70 years

$5.3bn total portfolio size through intermediated and direct equity, and debt

What we achieve

74

We have investments in 74 countries

$1.4 bn

We made $1.4 billion of new commitments in 2017

1,245

Our investment supports 1,245 businesses – including 715 in Africa and 338 in South Asia

$5.3 bn

Our portfolio has grown to $5.3 bn

1.29m

We estimate that in 2016 these businesses created 1.29 million new jobs directly and indirectly

7%

Between 2012 to 2016 we made an average annual US dollar return of 7 per cent (12.9 per cent in sterling)

Our team of E&S specialists work closely with investment teams and clients to identify and deliver positive E&S outcomes.

How we enable change in E&S performance

- + Direct support from our E&S specialists during appraisal and portfolio stages of an investment
- + Capacity building via E&S workshops and bespoke mentoring to clients
- + Access to CDC's Resource Efficiency Facility (for energy and water use audits and investments)
- + Good practice guidance and materials, including our internationally acclaimed ESG website for fund managers

Private Sector and SDGs

- ❖ Meeting the SDGs will require US$ 5 trillion in annual investment
- ❖ Funding gap of US$ 2.5 trillion
- ❖ SDGs – risks and opportunities for the private sector
